INVASION OF AN AFRICAN NATION

April 1, 2011.

The United States Government and its European allies (NATO) have turned the clock back to the days of naked colonialism with their use of a United Nations backed no-fly resolution as cover to launch a military invasion of Libya, a sovereign African nation.

While mass murder occurred in Rwanda, and Kenya experienced thousands murdered following its national elections in 2008, neither the US, NATO or the United Nations invaded these nations. Currently, the Ivory Coast is undergoing an election crisis that has claimed 500 lives and caused over 100,000 to become political refugees but there is no talk of invasion.

But Libya, whose current president Col. Quaddafi, has been transformed into a media boogeyman is the target of an air and sea military invasion. Is it because Libya possesses an endless supply of high quality crude oil under its sands and the invading powers want complete and total control of this product? Or is it that Col. Quaddafi has made an unequivocal call for a United States of Africa, which was the dream of the prophetic African leaders like Kwame Nkrumah and Gamel Abdul Nasser.

African and African-American heads of state, elected officials, spiritual and political leaders from across a wide spectrum of political thought have condemned the US-led invasion. Instead, they called for a peaceful resolution of conflict by urging all forces to accept an immediate cease fire, stop the killing innocent civilians and designate a group to mediate the conflict.

Even at this late date, no one has yet to identify the rebels who are fighting the Quaddafi government or who they represent. Wouldn't it be ironic if these Libyan rebels were composed of the same forces the U.S. military is fighting in Afghanistan?

The National Black United Front is seeking all progressive forces to communicate either by conference call or meeting to immediately give direction toward ending this military invasion and to produce direction in mediation of conflicts that are occurring worldwide.
